

Marketing intern with an interest in 3D animation

Have you reached the place in your study where you dream of an internship that challenges you professionally and fits well with your education - and are you interested in being a part of a fast-growing company in the biotech-pharma industry?

Then you might be the intern SANI Membranes is looking for.

About SANI Membranes A / S

We are a small company experiencing rapid growth. Our unique technology is used for membrane filtration throughout the world in many different industries, including food, biotech, pharma and water filtration.

The organization is characterized by a flat hierarchical structure where everyone's ideas are heard. We are looking for a marketing intern with knowledge of 3D animation who wants to try their hand in a dynamic and innovative environment.

The position

As part of SANI Membranes, you will work in a versatile position where you will become familiar with different disciplines within digital marketing.

In addition, you will get your own project focusing on visualization of the company's technology.

Through your internship, you will gain experience with the following:

- 3D animation and illustration
- Coordination and planning of digital campaigns
- Wordpress editing
- Performance analysis and tracking of website and campaigns
- SEO
- SEM
- SoMe marketing
- Email marketing
- Planning and coordinating events

Who are you?

- You are studying within the fields of graphic design, animation, marketing, or similar.
- You have knowledge of 3D animation software, e.g. Blender or Houdini
- You have strong communication skills
- You are creative and eager to learn
